RAS MOHAMED

Marine National Park offering 9 famous dive sites: Ras Ghozlani, Marsa Barioka, Ras Zatar, Jackfish Alley, Eel Garden, Shark Observatory, Anemone city, Shark & Yolanda Reefs.

In the south of Sharm el Sheikh the coast is totally deserted, with no shelter for more than a mile, up to the small bay named MARSA GHOZLANI, where the RAS MOHAMMED NATIONAL PARK begins.

Because of its geographic position the Ras Mohammed peninsula is a privileged area that benefits from strong currents that transport large quantities of plankton and other food that give rise to an extraordinary growth of hard and soft corals and attract large schools of both reef and pelagic marine fauna. With the great abundance of food, barracuda, jackfish, tuna and sharks swarm in these waters, especially between June to August, offering divers the chance to make extremely interesting and exciting dives.

TIRAN ISLAND

The Straits of Tiran is a world famous dive site that features Red Sea diving at its best. Mid to strong currents bring nutrients to the reefs feeding abundantly reef population.

Characteristic is the abundance of soft and hard corals, an amazing variety of colorful reef fish and big pelagic species, such as snappers, barracudas, tuna and sharks will make diving at any of the four locations of the Straits of Tiran unforgettable.

THISTLEGORM

World famous and of the biggest wrecks discovered. Located on the west coast of the Sinai Peninsula 40 km from Sharm El Sheikh.

125m long British army freighter that sank in 1941. During its last voyage during World War II, Thistlegorm was loaded with wartime supplies. A long list of inventory includes tanks, aircraft, armoured vehicles, Jeeps and trucks that can still be found penetrating the boat wreck.

A very unique dive experience bringing back Sinai's history.
